

Data Delivery Service

Unlock more from your data.

Your reporting, analytics, and business applications are only as valuable as the data behind them. Data Delivery Service securely replicates data from your key Vertafore management systems and applications into your own environment, making it easier to use the data that powers business insights, integrations, and other data-driven initiatives.

Using API-based replication and efficient delta refreshes, Data Delivery Service keeps your data current without the complexity of manual exports or traditional extraction processes. Spend less time managing data movement and more time putting your data to work.

Capabilities you need

- API-based data replication: Securely replicate data from your Vertafore systems into the infrastructure you manage, delivered in SQL format for easy integration with your reporting and analytics tools.
- Delta-based refreshes: Receive only updated and deleted records, reducing extraction windows, improving efficiency, and supporting more frequent data refreshes.
- Simplified data operations: Replace manual or complex extraction processes with a streamlined approach to keeping data current and accessible.
- Greater flexibility: Connect your data with the tools, platforms, and workflows your business already rely on, giving you the flexibility and control to support existing processes and future initiatives.
