

Your single source of truth

With Sircon, you get a single central vault for producer credential and relationship data that is always secure and up to date. Vertafore manages the regulatory rules to let you know what and where your producers are authorized to sell. Provide producers market-leading services and position yourself as the carrier of choice.

Features you need

Accurate agent records. Daily syncs from the National Producer Database (PDB) and other trusted data sources to ensure accurate and up-to-date producer records of licenses, lines of authority, appointments, education requirements, hierarchies, etc.

Bulk transactions. Submit regulatory transactions electronically for a batch of producers, with up-front validation and pre-population in all U.S. jurisdictions.

Built-in compliance rules engine. Sircon experts maintain the constant changes in rules and regulations so you don't have to.

Real-time producer authorization status. Determine which producers are authorized to sell your products based on product type, state, underwriting company, and sales event.

Flexible integrations. Web services and data feeds connect into your internal systems to help you utilize producer data across your other business processes.

Best-in-class agent experience. Agents will have a self-service portal to review their personal information check compliance status, and view their licensing information, or additional carrier-specific information.

Management reports and insights. Access pr-ebuilt reports that are right for your business. Create custom reports to deliver the data when you need them.

Some customers have seen potential for

- 50% less time spent licensing, appointing producers, and managing the renewal process.
- 50% cut in time spent on audits/regulatory reviews.
- 20% reduction in IT time and cost of maintaining legacy distribution management systems.
- 25% cost reduction in state appointment fees due to cost-saving compliance strategies, including just-in-time (JIT) appointments and termination for lack of production (TLOP).
- Reduced risk of non-compliance audits and fines.

"Sircon has simplified the appointment process so much for our contracting associates. We used to require them to remember state guidelines and who should be appointed and who shouldn't. Now all they have to worry about is what state they want, then click a button."
