

THE CARRIER'S GUIDE TO IMAGERIGHT

How to choose a solution to grow your business

PART 1

Times are changing

The days of filing cabinets and faxes are long gone. A digital workplace and virtual teams are essential to doing business today. For departments like claims and underwriting, that means adopting tools to manage documents and workflows as the volume, velocity, and variety of content that your organization needs grows. You also need to reduce capital expenses whenever and wherever you can to be more agile and competitive. And information management is at the heart of this change.

As companies strive to create order from the unprecedented amounts of information they produce, enterprise content management (ECM) has become one of the fastest growing areas of IT. In this guide, Vertafore addresses the key factors driving insurance organizations to adopting and deploying ImageRight for content management and workflow.
